MILK BATTLE SHOWS NEED OF REMAPPING

Chicago Feels Power of Downstate.

Chicago, denied its proper representation in the legislature, is powerfully moved to compel the purification of its milk supply because downstate legislators have refused to control the making of laws. This was charged yesterday by John B. Ferguson, veteran attorney in the fight to win a redistricting of the state.

Even though Health Commissioner Burdick has determined that the city's milk supply is safe, he eventually will have to face the fact that the city is being forced to do the heavy lifting of the state's milk supply, while the state legislature is doing the heavy lifting of the city's milk supply.

Under the law, medical authorities have shown, Illinois has become the nation's largest milk producer. Neighboring states have passed laws forbidding the sale of milk from Illinois, and Chicago has become the dumping ground for milk from these states.

Chicago is prohibited by the federal law, which has been passed many times since it was passed in 1911, from requiring that milk delivered to Chicago must come from within the state. This law, which is known as the "Milk Law," is a relic of the past and should be repealed.

Chicago is a city of 2,500,000 people, and it is a city that is growing rapidly. It is a city that is becoming more and more important in the nation's affairs. It is a city that is becoming more and more important in the world's affairs.

OFFICIALS HELD AS JURY PROBE HITS NEW UNION

Scope of Inquiry to Be Widened Today.

Rapid fire action by the state's attorney's office, the police, and the special grand jury yesterday featured the inquiry into the 120 bombings perpetrated in Chicago this year. As the grand jury voted two more indictments, police arrested two officials of the Retail Cleaners and Dyers' union. State's Attorney Crowe announced that still another group, said to be responsible for a two years' reign of terror in connection with the distribution of one of the prime necessities of life will be targets of testimony to be given today before the grand jury. Mr. Crowe last night would not name the particular commodity now involved. The information as to plans was given out by the state's attorney as the investigation was broadened into one taking in window smashing, the throwing of odor bombs, and other forms of intimidation.

Union Officials Arrested.
Sam Rubens, 1455 South Hamilton avenue, president, and Charles Goldstein, business agent of the cleaners and dyers' union, were the men arrested yesterday. They were taken into custody by Chief of Detectives John Stege on orders of Assistant State's Attorney Joseph P. Savage, after nearly fifty witnesses had been questioned by Assistant State's Attorneys Robert McMillan, Harold Levy, and Jacob Nicholas. They were held at the detective bureau and the state's attorney stated the evidence against them will be presented to the grand jury immediately.

Bombings Charged to Them.
According to Mr. McMillan the evidence will connect the two union officials with at least two or three bombings and several window smashings. The grand jury also will endeavor to place the responsibility for the throwing of acid in several tailor shops and dyeing establishments during the year.

Among others held for investigation by the state's attorney and at the detective bureau were Alfred Borris, 5222 North Spaulding avenue, secretary-treasurer of the cleaners and dyers' union; Harry Beyers, said to be a solicitor for the organization; William Carrio and Micky Greco, who hold minor positions in the union, and Ike Sandler, who called himself secretary of the United Sho Repairers' union.

Church Bombing Up Today.
Among other bombings which will be taken up by the grand jury today is that of the Bethesda Baptist (colored) church, 584 street and Michigan avenue, which was practically destroyed some months ago. Activities of the Laundry Owners' association, with which Hirschfeld Miller is connected, will also be investigated. Numerous laundries have been targets of bombs during the year.

Charged with Threats.
Rubens and Goldstein, it is said, will be charged with warning several cleaners and dyers, subsequently made the victims of window smashings and odor bombs. In some cases, it is said, they told cleaners they must move because they happened to be too close to another member.

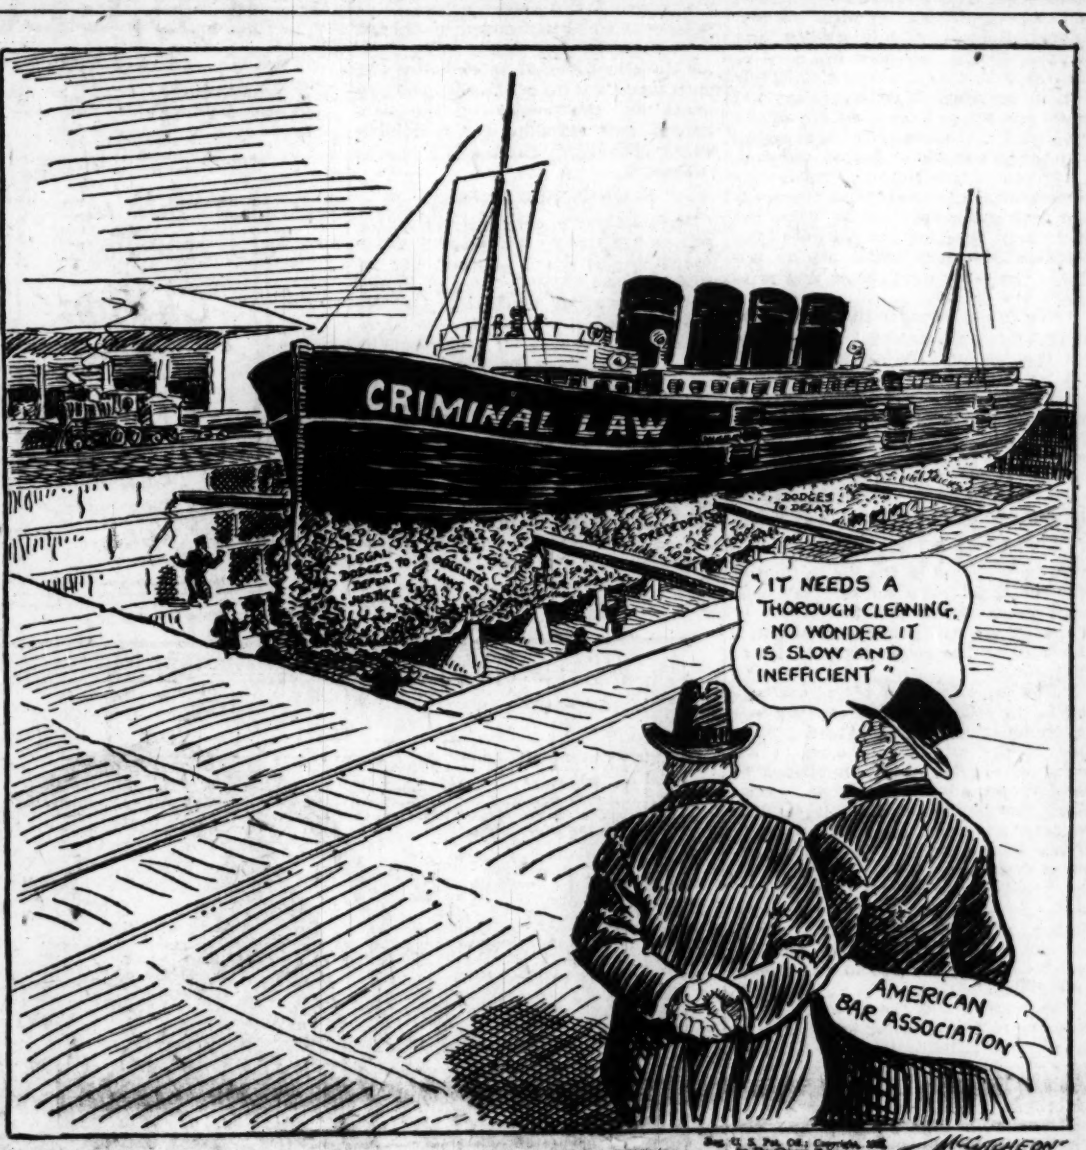

With the turn of the inquiry today, officials of three unions will be involved in the bombings and terrorism. Members of the barbers' union were first to become involved; the two officials of the cleaners and dyers followed, and the inquiry today will take in the voice of true bills.

Voice More True Bills.
True bills voted by the grand jury yesterday named Joseph Hadac and Joseph Janek, business agents of the Amalgamated Clothiers' union. They are to be charged with the bombing of the home of Joseph Hlavaty, 2501 Euclid avenue, Berwyn, owner of a tailor shop in Cicero.

Oscar De Priest, former colored aid, was among the witnesses in 37 bombings yesterday. His home at 3715 Vernon avenue was bombed in 1921.

NEXT WAR IN MUD, NOT IN AIR

THE BAR ASSOCIATION IS BEGINNING TO NOTICE THE BARNACLES

Woman Freed of Murder on Third Ballot

Mrs. Mary Kuna, 45 years old, 1866 West 18th street, was acquitted last night by a Criminal court jury on its third ballot of murdering her husband, Albert, on Aug. 18. During the two hours the jury was out Mrs. Kuna and her daughter Frances, 18 years old, knelt on the floor of the bull pen and prayed in Polish for a favorable decision.

It was pointed out that Mrs. Kuna had joined the ranks of some forty women who have been acquitted of murder in recent years. Only nine have been convicted. Following the verdict Prosecutor Louis Gelman stated that the acquittal was still further evidence of the difficulty of convicting a woman on a charge of murder.

Worried Over Rumors.
Mrs. Kuna, a plain looking woman, had heard of the partiality of juries to pretty women and it worried her. "I wonder if the jury will let me go, as they do pretty women," she murmured to her daughter, who stayed beside her constantly.

Assistant State's Attorney Gelman had asked that she be sent to the penitentiary. He charged that she stabbed her husband with a butcher knife because he complained of a cold supper.

Denies She Killed.
Mrs. Kuna, a stolid figure in black, loose fitting clothes, with an old fashioned shawl draped over her head, sat on the witness stand and denied that she had murdered Albert. All she could remember was that she had taken two drinks from a bottle of moonshine. After that she knew nothing, the jury was told.

When the finding of the jury was announced she at first had difficulty in understanding. An interpreter told Mrs. Kuna she could go home.

Three Ballots Taken.
"Thank God!" she cried. "Now I will get something good to eat. I haven't had anything nice since last August, when they put me in a cell. Frances will take good care of me."

On the first ballot the jury stood 10 to 3 for acquittal. A second ballot taken after some argument read 11 to one, and the third was unanimous for acquittal.

Son Born as Fireman Is Electrocuted

A policeman stamped up the steps to the porch of a small bungalow home at 3541 North Oak Park avenue yesterday. His face grim with thought of his findings, he pounded upon the door.

No response. Again and again he pounded. As he turned slowly away a neighbor woman faced him.

"Looking for the Foley's?" she asked.

"Yes."

"Well, they ain't home. Mrs. Foley's over at St. Ann's hospital—"

"O," said the policeman.

"It's a boy."

"Yes"—and the neighbor woman's face broke into a smile—"It's a boy."

"O," said the policeman.

"And Steve, her husband," continued the woman, "he's a fireman, you know and he's off at work."

"Yes, I know," replied the policeman, and crossed to the corner drug store and called his station.

"She's in the hospital, Sarge, and there's a little fellow, too—less'n twenty-four hours old—and I can't tell her."

Keep News from Wife.
And so at St. Ann's last night, while friends and nurses hovered anxiously near for fear she would suspect the truth, a young mother happily fondled her babe and dreamed of a merry Christmas.

At Donoghue's morgue, 2148 North California avenue, the young husband lay dead upon a slab while his comrades of fire squad No. 6 told of the tragedy in whispers.

In fighting a basement fire at the Atlantic Electric Fixture and Radio company, 2362 Milwaukee avenue, Foley, who was 31 years old, accidentally touched a live wire and was instantly electrocuted.

Kipling, Ill of Pneumonia, Grows Worse

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Dec. 2.—The condition of Rudyard Kipling, noted author and poet, who is seriously ill with bronchial pneumonia at his home at Burwash, Sussex, took a turn for the worse at 9 o'clock tonight. At 11 o'clock no change was reported. Lord Dawson of Penn, King George's own physician, was again summoned by Dr. Curries, the author's doctor, who had summoned Lord Dawson last night when the seriousness of the case was realized.

Lord Dawson was expected to remain through the night. Mrs. Kipling has been at her husband's bedside constantly, and a nurse has been attending him.

The author's illness is the result of a chill he received while shooting near his home Saturday.

THEATERS OFFER PLAN TO REFORM TICKET SELLING

Sixty per cent of the first fifteen rows to be sold the public from the box office, the remainder of that section to go to the ticket brokers—that is the proposition to be submitted to the judiciary committee of the city council this afternoon.

It will come from the Chicago Theater Managers' association, controlling the eighteen so-called legitimate theaters in the loop district, and will be headed by Ald. Jacob M. Arvey (24th), chairman of the committee.

In submitting it, the managers will set forth these two propositions:

1. That they will sell tickets only to brokers who will agree to a charge of not more than 50 cents "service charge" for each ticket in addition to the box office price.
2. That the city council must agree to call on the police department for the enforcement of the ordinances against the sale of tickets on the streets.

Harry Ridings, president of the theater managers, said, "This plan is dictated by our experience."

The managers in submitting their plan also will ask that the council amend the present ordinances to conform to the proposition in order that future conflict may be avoided.

YANKEES DRANK NEW ZEALAND WET, HE ASSERTS

Intemperance of the sailors in the American fleet which visited New Zealand recently is one of the reasons that prohibition was overwhelmingly voted against in that commonwealth a few weeks later, Alexander Marky declared yesterday at a luncheon in the City club. He said he never saw such a spectacle as the American sailors when they were permitted to go ashore.

"Every bar, every saloon and liquor store, was jammed with American sailors," said Mr. Marky, "and before the evening was over most of them were dead drunk."

"The majority of these sailors were mere kids when prohibition went into effect in America. The craving for drink was in their blood, but they were never given a chance to learn temperance, so the first opportunity for unrestricted liquor stripped them of all caution and discipline."

FAIL TO SHOW MURDER PLOT IN MATTEOTTI CASE

[Copyright, 1925: By the New York Times.]
ROME, Dec. 2.—According to the court's findings, the plot against the Socialist deputy, Matteotti, who was murdered on June 19, 1924, was evolved before May 21, when the five men now up for trial came to Rome. Their leader was Amerigo Dumini, born in St. Louis, Mo., 31 years ago. He, however, in the court's opinion, was not a free agent, but acted under orders.

The court then holds that Rossi, Marinelli, and Filippelli plotted merely to kidnap Matteotti and not to murder him.

The court could find no reason why any one should wish to murder Matteotti. He was not prominent in the Socialist party nor was his opposition to the Fascist regime more violent than that of other Socialist deputies.

COOLIDGE BOARD HITS SEPARATE SERVICE PLEA

Ignores Mitchell in Its Report.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The report of President Coolidge's special aircraft board, made public by the White House today, apparently does not settle anything. It only adds to the controversy over the state of our air defense, which is transferred to congress.

The board does not believe that Dwight Morrow aircraft have revolutionized warfare and that the next war will be fought in the air, observing that "the next war, may well start in the air, but in all probability will wind up, as the last war did, in the mud." Consequently, the board combats the Mitchell proposal of organizing an independent air force coordinate with the army and navy and making it our first line of defense.

Ignores Mitchell's Existence.
The report constituting the unanimous findings of Chairman Dwight Morrow and the eight other members ignores the existence of Col. Billy Mitchell, whose sensational charges of incompetency in the high army and navy commands precipitated the investigation by this board and Mitchell's court martial for insubordination. While not once mentioning Mitchell by name, the board pronounces without foundation in fact his more sensational charges, such as those characterizing our airplanes as "flaming coffins," rejects as unwarranted his recommendations, including an independent air force, and then finds in effect that his complaints of the neglect and undue subordination of military aviation by the war and navy departments are justified in the main.

The board declares that continental United States is in no danger of air attack from any quarter so long as our navy is undefeated and asserts that our aircraft strength is sufficient for our needs. Then it proceeds to submit numerous recommendations of reforms and improvements which, in the opinion of the board, would rescue the air services of the navy and army from their state of neglect and subordination.

Deserve More Importance.
The board recommends an additional assistant secretary of war and an additional assistant secretary of the navy, whose special province would be the development of military aviation. An additional assistant secretary of commerce is also recommended for commercial and civilian flying.

Under this arrangement, the air force in each service would have a special guardian, but its status would remain unchanged. It would not even possess a corps like the marine corps as proposed by Gen. Patrick, chief of the army air service, although the board recommends that "to avoid confusion of nomenclature, the name of the army air service be changed to air corps."

Assistant Secretaries for Job.
In stating its reasons for recommending the placing of the air forces under the supervision of assistant secretaries, the board says:

"In order that the air corps [air service] should receive constant sympathetic supervision and counsel, we recommend that congress be asked to create an additional assistant secretary of war, who shall perform such duties with reference to aviation as may be assigned him by the secretary of war. We foresee that such an official, properly used, could be the means of promoting close cooperation between aviation and the other parts of the army. In the matter of procurement he could be especially useful. If the expenditures, not only for new planes but for experimentation and espionage, were under the scrutiny of a civilian head, much of the feeling on the part of congress that there was extravagance, and on the part of the air service that there was parsimony, might be avoided."

The same reasoning goes for the adoption of the identical innovation in the navy. In order to remove other

Sprague Asks Business Men to Give City Harbor Plan

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, appealed yesterday to the Commercial club to prepare and present a harbor plan gratis to the city of Chicago. This is the equivalent of asking a donation of from $50,000 to $100,000 for a municipal function from the same public spirited citizens who years ago gave the citizenry the Chicago Plan at a cost to the city of $135,000, and added millions in value to property.

The commissioner has turned to private citizens because the city council turned down his request for $50,000 with which to develop a harbor plan on a scientific basis.

Although Prof. J. Paul Goode of the University of Chicago says that waterways and harbor facilities are the most urgent of Chicago's needs, the aldermanic interest in the subject is indicated by the attendance yesterday at the meeting of the council committee on harbors, wharves and bridges.

Nine of the seventeen members were absent. Those present decided to ask cooperation of the shipping interests.

Tells Traylor the Situation.
Col. Sprague related his predicament to Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, who is secretary of the Commercial club. He told the banker that the lack of a harbor actually is injurious to Chicago and that a plan is a prerequisite to a harbor.

At a cost of thousands of dollars the commissioner has obtained a detailed study and report on the Chicago river, especially as to the question of fixed or movable bridges. This forecasts enormous gains for Chicago if a fixed bridge policy is adopted, but the federal government has indicated that it will not permit the bridges to be closed until Chicago plans a harbor in the lake and gives some evidence of an intention to construct it.

The government hesitated some time before granting a permit for the La Salle street bridge, because it was the view in Washington that if Chicago intends to continue to use the Chicago river as a harbor, navigation in it should not further be retarded by more bridges.

Link Between Harbor and Traffic.
Lack of a harbor program, which prevents fixed bridges, is contributing largely to the increase in traffic congestion. A striking illustration is supplied by the proposed bridge east of Michigan avenue, by which the Lincoln and south park systems would be linked. If the city had an authorized and definite harbor policy, this link could be obtained without any expense to the corporate fund of the city or its borrowing power, about which city officials sometimes appear solicitous.

Certainly the cost would be paid by the public—as in all other improvements—but it would be collected through the park boards and no insurance would be placed on the city government proper.

This outer drive bridge would relieve downtown congestion materially. President Edward J. Kelly of the south park commission estimated yesterday that it would take 50 per cent of Michigan boulevard's traffic during rush hours and substantially reduce the traveling time of motorists.

Two Plans for Bridge.
There are two suggestions for the location of this bridge. One of them proposes construction at the mouth of the Chicago river, a plan said to be favored by a majority of the south park and Lincoln park boards. The other program would place the bridge half way between the river mouth and Michigan avenue, which would run from the Grant Park drive, east of the Art Institute, due north across the river to the downtown campus of Northwestern university. This is favored by the Chicago plan commission.

EUROPE TO WOO RUSSIA BACK BY GERMAN TREATY

Berlin to Sign Soviet Neutrality Pact.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Dec. 2.—The German press is now able to tell the story of the negotiations between the Germans, Russians, French and British on which are based the hopes for bringing Russia back within the orbit of European civilization soon and making possible real disarmament.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary of Great Britain, Premier and Foreign Minister Briand of France, and Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany all have said the Locarno treaties are not the end but the beginning of Europe's peace process. This thought is the basis on which the new era in Europe will be built up.

Before real disarmament can take place, the Russian menace must be removed, and Germany has volunteered to try to be the bridge over which Russia may be brought back from Asian to European civilization.

Russia Tried to Balk Locarno.

Just before the Locarno meeting, Georges Tchitcherine, soviet commissar of foreign affairs, made a spectacular trip to Berlin, and also one to Warsaw. He visited Berlin to make last minute desperate attempts to keep Germany from making peace with its western allies, which would mean its withdrawal from the virtual alliance with Russia, which had existed since the Rapallo treaty, into which Germany was forced at a time when it had no friends in Europe.

Under the Rapallo treaty Germany and Russia were bound together by a common policy toward the league of nations and toward Poland. In fact, it is said, a new partition of Poland was envisaged in the future. When the sun of Locarno began to rise, Germany wished to be freed from bondage to Russia. But M. Tchitcherine exacted his price. Part of that price was the signing of the commercial treaty between the two nations.

Another demand was for a new treaty, very much on the lines of the famous "reinsurance treaty" between Germany and Russia in 1897, which was kept secret for years. Germany resisted this, but the matter went so far that a rough draft was prepared.

Allies Approve "Reinsurance Pact."

When the Germans went to Locarno, instead of finding enemies trying to drive the hardest possible bargain, they found friends who were trying to make it easy for them to return to the old associations. They laid their difficulties before these friends and found, not only sympathy, but support, particularly for a reinsurance treaty, which the allied statesmen believed might be the means of bringing Russia into the fold.

The principle points of the rough draft of this treaty are:

1. A solemn declaration that neither of the contracting parties will join any combination directed against the other. This amounts to an agreement for neutrality under all conditions.
2. A joint policy regarding Poland, Lithuania, and all the Baltic states, and a German promise not to interfere

NEUTRALITY

With Germany once more officially back in the family of Europe, the European statesmen have begun to try to win Russia, an outcast since the Red revolution. By a treaty of "reinsurance" between Germany and Russia by which each would guarantee neutrality in case the other was attacked, Europe sees a chance to link Russia to the rest of the continent and perhaps get the soviet into the league of nations. Such a treaty was drafted before the Locarno conference and was approved there by the allied statesmen. The treaty is expected to maintain the status quo of the Baltic countries.

In any action Russia might decide to take against Rumania. Both Dr. Stresemann and Chamberlain Luther were much annoyed by M. Tchitcherine's attitude during his visit in Berlin, but they felt that they could not afford to break with him until they had seen the results of Locarno.

Tchitcherine Goes to Paris.

The first result of the German disclosure to the allies at Locarno was to excite the interest of Sir Austen Chamberlain and M. Briand; particularly the latter, in the possibility of inducing Russia to abandon the role of an international pariah and enter the league, or at any rate establish friendly relations.

Negotiations over the Russian debts to France had been going on for a long time, but these were accelerated to such an extent that M. Tchitcherine decided he had better go to Paris for personal negotiations.

The Russian foreign minister arrived in the thick of the desperate political crisis, but M. Briand found time to receive him and talk to him for two hours. Although it was announced publicly that the Russian leader left Paris the next morning for southern France, he really remained four more days in Paris, keeping in constant touch with Quin d'Orsay. He is now hidden in a little resort near Paris awaiting the reopening of the negotiations when M. Briand has solved the French domestic crisis.

As a result of his conversations with M. Tchitcherine, M. Briand was able to inform Sir Austen that M. Tchitcherine at least favors a rapprochement with western civilization, and is willing, if not to enter the league of nations, to send an observer on the American plan. The league constitution contains no provision for observers, but it is not believed this will be permitted to stand in the way.

M. Briand returned to Paris today with what was virtually a carte blanche from Sir Austen to continue the negotiations with Russia. M. Briand has promised to keep Great Britain informed of every move. Both statesmen are hopeful over the outcome.

It is anticipated that one of the first results of these negotiations will be a visit to London soon by M. Tchitcherine, ostensibly to discuss events in the near and far east. M. Briand has reported to Sir Austen that he is certain that soviet agitation against the British in the east has been due to Russia's fear that Britain is trying to injure its trade in that quarter and force them out.

Start League Disarmament Moves.
Lord Robert Cecil left on the same train with M. Briand, traveling to Geneva for the meeting of the disarmament committee of the league of nations, which will lay its report before the meeting of the league council next week for which Sir Austen leaves London on Saturday.

It is not expected, however, that the committee will be able to report much progress at the coming session of the council, and it can hardly be hoped that it will be ready with a full report for the March meeting. It is hoped, however, that the June meeting of the council will be able to summon a disarmament conference.

Following the decision of Judge Hugo Friend that the ordinance prohibiting parking on certain loop streets was valid, Capt. Patrick Hogan of the traffic division announced that enforcement of the ordinance would begin this morning.

The streets on which parking is forbidden are Van Buren from Franklin to Wabash avenue, Wabash avenue from Van Buren to Lake street, and Lake street from Wabash avenue to Franklin street. Lake street merchants sought to set aside the order on the grounds that it was injurious to their business, but Judge Friend held it valid.

COURT WARNING ENDS ANTICS IN MITCHELL TRIAL

Peaceful Time Is
Had by Everybody.

JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—(Special)—Antics ended in the Mitchell trial today. With their entry on the sixth week of a trial that in military opinion—to have lasted four days, the soldier-jurors up their minds that their dignity had been flouted by wrangling lawyers that some witnesses had been only ill-used.

Before court opened this morning, Gen. Howard, president of the court, issued a warning to the jury. In his head, including Rep. J. H. Rankin, Col. Mitchell's senior counsel, and the war department's wrangler, Allen Gullion, in his glance, the general said:

For the benefit of all parties concerned, the court desired to read the words from the manual of paragraph 201, the 'Manual for Courts-Martial, be read.' Gen. Howard read these words from the manual:

It is the duty of the court to preserve the dignity of the court, to prevent improper questions, from being asked, or improper treatment, and from any insult or insult to the private property of any party.

The court must forbid any action which appears to be intended to insult or annoy a witness, or which, though proper in itself, appears to be needlessly offensive in the eyes of the court.

With another glance at the lawyers, Gen. Howard added, "Please take note."

They did, with the result that a day almost perfect peace followed.

Evidence Both Ways.

It was a day of the prosecution's evidence, testifying in rebuttal and trend was sometimes to weaken charges of maladministration in air service by the army and the navy.

Then Mr. Reid asked, "Is the policy of the navy calculated to bring out the best possible work by the personnel in navy aviation?" the witness replied:

"In my opinion, no." How many naval aviators with whom you have talked are in favor of the present system?"

A very few—three or four."

Reluctant to Testify.

Col. Mitchell's charges that officers would tell the truth about aviation are "bluffed and bulldozed" and Commander Whitting said:

"I think many of them are reluctant to before congressional committees advocate policies opposed by the department."

But, he summed up, "in spite of the system, we lead in naval aviation."

In his sentence he offered not an apology but as a fact:

No battleship can now be built without being very vulnerable to time unless protected by planes. Col. Mitchell's declaration that airplanes, the Lexington and Saratoga, will be obsolete by the time they are completed. Commanders dismissed with a decision.

and he said we lead the world in the development of catapults for the release of a plane from the deck of a ship.

Later in the day came a bump in Mitchell's vehement utterance of the lack of parachutes on the battleship. It was administered by Commander Ralph D. Weyerbach.

CHILE'S RAPS AT PERSHING DELAY DISTURB LEAGUE

Fear Wider Rift Between
U. S. and Geneva.

GENEVA, Dec. 2.—The arrangement of Gen. Pershing by Chile for his manner of conducting the Tacna-Arica plebiscitary negotiations gave league officials a sleepless night. The document which caused the uneasiness was presented by the Chilean minister at Berno to Sir Eric Drummond, the league secretary general.

The Chilean government recently instructed all ministers to make a statement of the situation to the press of the countries to which they were accredited. Valdes Mendez, the minister at Berno, drafted a document which, before publication, he presented as a matter of diplomatic courtesy to Foreign Minister Motta of Switzerland. As he is accredited to the league, he presented another document to Sir Eric.

The Chilean minister declared categorically today that the document was in no way an appeal to the league.

Fear U. S. Politicians.
The fact that the document discusses the international situation of an alleged dangerous character and is presented as a matter of courtesy to the league, however, has made league officials fear American politicians will make capital of it in order to further estrange Washington and Geneva. Naturally if Chile appealed to the league in this dispute a complicated situation would be created, despite the Monroe Doctrine, as all the South and Central American countries except Ecuador are members of the league and all except Argentina and Costa Rica take the league seriously.

Look for Coolidge Action.
League officials, considering the misunderstanding which is likely to arise from the document, are loath to discuss it, but it is evident they are not impressed by the procrastination in the settlement of the dispute, and it is wondered here if President Coolidge will not take action to bring the situation to a speedy end.

"Peru Out of Flight."

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LIMA, Peru, Dec. 2.—The Tacna-Arica controversy from the Peruvian point of view was summed up by a high Peruvian government official today in these words: "The struggle at the present moment is between the United States and Chile, with Peru sitting on the side lines."

Peru, he continued, expects to be called back into the struggle after the ground rules are fully defined.

Peru Takes U. S.

While realizing the critical character of the encounter in which Gen. Pershing and Augustin Edwards, the Chilean member of the plebiscitary commission, are engaged, public opinion here registers a high optimism, founded on the belief that Gen. Pershing has the entire and unquestioned confidence of President Coolidge, and that the latter will use the full moral force of the American nation to drive the plebiscitary procedure through to a decision.

The Peruvians feel that intimations from Chile that it may appeal to the league of nations will strengthen instead of weaken the United States' opposition to the Chilean policy, such an appeal being regarded as tantamount to the repeal of all the principles of the Monroe Doctrine.

BETTER HEALTH PLANNERS OFFER CHICAGO HINTS

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Public health work directly was associated with the future of the Chicago area at the third annual meeting of the Chicago Regional Planning association, which began at the Hotel Sherman yesterday. Coordination of health agencies was declared necessary for the safety, even the existence of the greater city.

Dr. C. C. Pierce, senior surgeon of the United States public health service, who spent years in making the Panama canal zone safe, presided at the session. He gave four points on which attention should be concentrated. These are:

A pure milk supply for the entire region.

Use of iodine in salts or tablets to prevent goitre, particularly for adolescent girls.

General vaccination against smallpox.

Annual physical examination for children and adults, through co-operation with the general medical profession.

Longer Life in Easy Reach.

Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer for Wisconsin, said if the known rules of public health were put into effect the average life would be extended six to eight years.

He said the health authorities in his state had been trying to get a law requiring the testing of all cattle for tuberculosis. There now are three sections in that state where the herds are completely clean. To do that all over the state would cost $2,000,000, he said. "I do not know where money could be spent with greater returns," he said.

The farmers, for instance, are so careful about their pigs that they will not take mixed milk from a creamery to feed them, fearing the germs. Yet the people drink milk with little knowledge of its source.

Dr. I. D. Rawlings, Illinois state health officer, urged greater coordination of health work, particularly among the counties. In Cook county and four adjacent counties there are 237 separate and unrelated boards of health, he said. Because those boards do not act as a regional unit disease prevention efforts are often checkmated. He told of the efforts to get in the small cities and the efforts to get uniformity.

Cites Preventable Deaths.

Health Commissioner Bundesen praised the work of the state health department and said he always had 100 per cent cooperation from it. There are 50 or 60 deaths every day in Chicago, he said, from preventable causes, yet Chicago ranks high as a healthful city. He said that health should be safeguarded by periodical audits, just as money in a bank is watched.

The necessity for highway public comfort stations, regulation of itinerant food dispensers, methods of preventing colds, and eradicating mosquitoes were discussed. Land subdividing and zoning were discussed at another session. It was learned that the counties around Chicago quietly have been acquiring mile after mile of wide rights of way for a system of highways without cost to the citizens. Commissioner Frederick W. Fenfield of the Cook county board said the subdividers now were required to provide highways 100 feet wide on all main roads, and that 40 miles already have been acquired in that way.

Milwaukee and Kenosha progress in zoning was reported.

PARENTS WED GIRL TO LABORER FOR HIS SUPPORT

A contract whereby a 14 year old girl was forced into marriage by her parents in order that they might be supported by the husband was revealed in the South Chicago police court yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Dovitch were charged with swearing falsely to an affidavit for a marriage license in which they stated that their daughter, Anna, 14, was 17 years old.

Policewoman Marian Wightman discovered that Anna was married to Charles Kahn, a laborer, after he agreed to return to the parents' home and support them. The parents requested a jury trial.

WOMEN WOULD CURB FLAME OF FLAMING YOUTH

Largely as a result of the investigations of Mrs. William Harrison Cade's committee on law enforcement, the state board of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, at its monthly meeting yesterday, adopted the following resolution regarding young people and some modern customs:

"Whereas, The prevalence of cigarette smoking, suggestive songs, obscene literature, and petting parties among the young people of our schools and colleges is to be deplored;

"Therefore, be it resolved by the board of directors of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs that we go on record as opposed to these practices and as expressing the hope that these customs be discouraged officially by those in authority in our schools and colleges."

An auxiliary resolution urges parents of Illinois to give their aid to enforcement of the sentiment of the first resolution.

FALL FATAL TO WOMAN.

Mrs. Frances Gotta, 388 East Elm place, Highland Park, died yesterday in the Highland Park hospital from a fractured skull she suffered when she fell and fell through a kitchen window of her home, five feet to the pavement below, on Nov. 22.

VERBAL DARTS KIP'S LAWYER H RHINELANDER S

Parent Blamed for Son's
Marital Woes.

New York, Dec. 2.—(Special.)

Philip Rhinelander, millionaire father of Leonard Kip Rhinelander, was the outcast figure of an emotional summation trial by Isaac N. Mills, former Supreme Court justice, in his annulment of Rhinelander's marriage to Alice Beatrice Jones Rhinelander.

Mr. Mills declared that the father was more to blame for the condition that now exists as a result of the marriage to a mulatto woman than was Leonard himself.

Kip's Father Blamed.

"The claim was made that the father of Philip Rhinelander was the cause of the evidence on our part, that this is unwarranted. It is nothing to show that Philip Rhinelander had ever set eyes on any woman other than Alice Beatrice Jones Rhinelander is not here. But I make a point that he is not here."

Rhinelander is more to blame for the condition in which this poor boy found himself than is the young man himself. The jury will decide.

Tracing Leonard's career, the jury returned finally to the schoolroom, examining in Stamford, Judge said: "Not once did Philip Rhinelander cross the threshold of that institution. Only his sister and her husband came."

Appeals to Jurymen.
"There is not a father among us who would not rather see his son in a basket than see him married to a mulatto woman. There is not a man among our wives who would not rather see her daughter's white face crossed before her than to see her embrace of a mulatto man."

This woman need not fear her future. The newspapers, and other scandals, will soon drop names and she will again be a married one of her own color."

Mr. Mills expected to take a full day tomorrow. The jury process will get the case Friday morning.

THREE WOMEN IDENTIFY MAN IN ROBBERY

"Any one can be mistaken," said Cornelius Carrig, aged 30, 6543 Avenue, in an 8 by 8 cell last night in the Woodlawn police station.

"I'm not," said Mrs. Elizabeth Carrig, 408 East Fifty-fifth street, who said she saw Carrig in the robbery.

"Neither am I," asserted Miss Lillian, 608 East Fifty-fifth street, who said she saw Carrig in the robbery.

"And you may be sure I'm not," said Mrs. John Arado, 808 East Fifty-fifth street.

"Looks like it's you who are taken, Carrig," the lockup commended. "You probably thought it safest to women."

The three women said they robbed on Nov. 28 at Fifty-fifth and Madison avenue by a man who lurked in the shadows there. They pointed out Carrig as they saw him in the shadows.

Simon Cohn, who told of a burglary at his home, 6123 Vernon avenue, said Carrig is also charged with it.

To Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt relief. Takes but a moment to make. Serves about 32.

This is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine oil has a remarkable effect in soothing the inflamed membrane of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are made of pine oil and sugar. The "cough" usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough syrup, put 3/4 ounces of pine oil in a pint bottle, and fill up with sugar syrup. Or, if you prefer, use honey or molasses instead of sugar syrup.

It makes a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made. It is pure, and it saves the money.

You can feel it take right hold of a cough or cold. The cough may be hoarse and tight, or may be irritatingly loose. It can be a sign of phlegm. The cough may be a sign of influenza, pneumonia, or any of the many ailments that cause coughing.

Pine is a highly concentrated essence of Norway pine extract. It is famous the world over for its effect upon coughs, colds, and influenza. Ask your druggist for "25¢ cough syrup" with directions.

VERBAL DARTS OF KIP'S LAWYER HIT RHINELANDER SR.

Parent Blamed for Son's
Marital Woes.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—A sharp denunciation of Philip Rhineland, father of Leonard Rhineland, was the outstanding feature of an emotional summary judgment rendered by Judge N. M. Miller, former Supreme Court justice, now attorney for young Rhineland, in his annulment suit against Miss Beatrice Jones Rhineland.

Mr. Miller declared that the father was to blame for the condition that now exists as a result of the son's marriage to a mulatto woman, than whom Leonard himself.

Kip's Father Blamed.
"The claim was made that the absence of Philip Rhineland from the scene of evidence on our part," he said, "is unwarranted. There is nothing to show that Philip Rhineland had ever set eyes on my client."

But I make complaint that Philip Rhineland is not here. But I make complaint that he is not here. Philip Rhineland is more to blame for the Rhineland case than the young man."

Tracing Leonard's career through starting and finally to the school for summer in Stamford, Judge Miller said:

"Not once did Philip Rhineland cross the threshold of that institution. Only his sister and her husband came."

Appeals to Jurymen.
"There is not a father among you who would not rather see his son in a cage than see him married to a mulatto woman. There is not a mother among your wives who would not rather see her daughter's white hair crown before her than to see her in the embrace of a mulatto man."

This woman need not fear for her future. The newspapers, seeking other scandals, will soon drop her name and she will again be free to marry one of her own color."

Mr. Miller expected to take a full day again tomorrow. The jury probably will get the case Friday morning.

THREE WOMEN IDENTIFY MAN IN ROBBERY

"Any one can be mistaken," mused Cornelius Carrig, aged 36, 654 E. Duval street, as he sat in a cell last night at the Woodlawn police station.

"I'm not," said Mrs. Elizabeth Grock, 44 East Fifty-fifth street.

"Neither am I," asserted Miss Elsie Lutz, 44 East Fifty-fifth street.

"And you may be sure I'm not," added Mrs. John Arado, 805 East Sixty-fifth street.

"Look like it's you who are mistaken, Carrig," the lockup commented. "I've probably thought it safest to rob women."

The three women said they were called on Nov. 24 at 654 E. Duval street by a man who lurked in the shadows there. They pointed to Carrig as they spoke.

Then came Mrs. Arado, who told of a burglary in her home, 412 Vernon avenue, Dec. 1. Carrig is also charged with that.

To Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

For equal prompt results, but a moment to make. Cures about $2.

It is used in nearly all the best cough remedies for children. The reason is that pine has a powerful effect in soothing the inflamed membranes of the throat and chest.

These cough syrups are made of pure pine. The "syrup" is made of the best pine cough syrup, and 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, 1/2 ounce of sugar, 1/2 ounce of honey, or corn syrup, and 1/2 ounce of lemon juice. A full pint—more than enough for a family—can be made in a few minutes. It is pure, and it is good.

It is a fact that it takes right hold on colds. The cough may be hoarse and tight, or may be a dry, irritating cough. The cause is the inflamed membranes of the throat and chest. Pinex and Syrup combine to give a full pint—more than enough for a family—can be made in a few minutes. It is pure, and it is good.

HIBBEN CALLS U. S. ENTRANCE INTO COURT MINIMUM OBLIGATION

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Calling America's entrance into the world court the "irreducible minimum of our international obligations," President John Grier Hibben of Princeton university today answered the open letter addressed to him by Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the United States senate.

In his letter Dr. Hibben says:

"I do not wish (copyright: U. S. U.) to comment upon the argument which you advance in support of your position, but I feel compelled to make the following statements:

"First: That another international court, divorced from the court as at present organized, would in all probability result in our nation finding itself the sole member of such an institution."

"Second: In my opinion the participation in the present world court on the part of the United States is the irreducible minimum of our international obligations. Believe me, sincerely yours, John Grier Hibben."

FEUDAL BARON LOCKED IN FORT FOR DUEL KILLING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—The trial of a modern Scaramouche, Baron von Somnitz, who challenged eight adversaries to duels, fought four and killed one to maintain his honor, ended today when a court in a small provincial town sentenced him to two years and nine months' imprisonment in a fortress.

The adversaries got sentences of a few months' imprisonment. All the men were members of a feudal caste in Pomerania, North Germany. Accused of the murder of a chamberlain in a duel, Baron von Somnitz did not flinch and he did not reveal the motives in the background which induced him to fight with a pistol eight other aristocrats and to accept the challenge of a ninth.

Baron von Somnitz was opposed to the Fascist tactics of the Junkers whom he drilled. He was a nationalist, but he disapproved of Fascist methods. The other Junkers then boycotted him. At a big hunting dinner early in 1924 all of these men assaulted the baron.

The "court of honor" of the aristocrats took the matter up. The medieval order of St. John, of which President von Hindenburg was an honorary member until he was elected president, in a solemn session decided that a duel alone could restore the honor of Baron von Somnitz and his opponents.

The eight men met at dawn on July 3. Lieut. von Kohn, the other enemy of Baron von Somnitz, who was read out of caste because of his disapproval of violent methods, also challenged the baron to a duel. Von Somnitz refused to fight, but Lieut. von Kohn insisted.

The barons and counts opposing Von Somnitz drew numbers to decide the order of the fight. Lieut. von Kohn was fourth.

"I fired first," the baron explained. "It was dark, and I did not want to kill. I pointed my pistol at the legs of my adversary. In the fourth duel, with Lieut. von Kohn, a bullet hit the main artery of the leg. I shouted, 'Try reconciliation!' A minute later Von Kohn was dead."

Asked as to the details of the political quarrel, the baron drew himself to his full height and said: "In our caste it is the custom to fight matters out with weapons. I do not want to stir new hatred."

The court and lawyers were convinced that men of higher rank in the aristocracy were involved.

GOING SOUTH WITH MUSCLE SHOALS.

President Coolidge's Muscle Shoals board of inquiry has submitted a divided report. The majority finding is for the use of the development, preferably by private lease but otherwise by the government, for the manufacture of fertilizer in peace time and of nitrogen in war. This and nothing more. The minority is for private operation, the use of some power for fertilizer, and of other power for the manufacture either of fertilizer or of electro-chemical and electric furnace products. It seems hopeless.

Muscle Shoals can't be de-bunked. That was the way it was built. It is the fabric of the project, and now the only question is who will take advantage of the bunk and run away with the power. It is inherent in politics that some one must steal the development.

It is out of the question for politics to put the government's property up for honest bidding and honest sale or lease of the industries which would use the power in the development of an entire region.

Farmers have been persuaded that they can get something for nothing. It's easy persuasion, like that of free public land. It is easy to believe that something from the government for nothing flows by moral right, and nothing with greater moral right than fertilizer. There is something close to right in cheap or free fertilizer for the land. Then there is nitrogen for war. The appeal to patriotic pride. It makes it one of the easiest things politics finds to do, but we never examine politics more curiously than when it is doing something for the national defense, except when it is doing something for the farmer.

It has been estimated that if all the fertilizer which could be developed at Muscle Shoals were developed the individual farmer might be able to buy a few gallons of gasoline with what it saved him. And a congress interested in the possibility of war would expect the admiration if incredulity did not have the first call. There isn't any such thing as such a congress.

Muscle Shoals as a power property of the government has only one fate to expect from politics. Some one will make a killing on it and fertilizer and national defense will make that possible. Henry Ford almost made the killing, and he was doing it for the farmer and for defense. Some people could smile when Mr. Ford was willing to take over the power and keep it available for the national security, but not many. Dunk is too solid. It asks for a reverential attention and generally gets it. Who can be flippant when the policy is to protect the fertility of the soil and the home of the cottagers from the invader?

Muscle Shoals is a government development of water power. Water power is an economic force and its uses are nearly always indicated by the possibilities in the region in which it has been or can be developed. It can and should be the base of industrial promotion. Politics cannot run it, because politics cannot run anything, being in its nature opposed to the principles of economic administration. Politics, which had long wanted the government to sink some money in an enterprise it could not possibly run, seized the opportunity of the war to get the money sunk. It is. It then seized the idea of fertilizer and national defense to smoke over the fact that what had been developed was power for a region of industries.

In this pretty picture of Muscle Shoals we are raising corn and filling shells, and while people are watching the corn grow and the shells explode some competent citizens will take possession of the power.

It ought to be possible for the government to lease the power under the water power act, or sell it and let it honestly do what it is intended to do now that the government money has been put in the project. The increased prosperity of any region is a national asset. We might question the justice of having one region get this by government appropriation while another has to sweat for it, but when the money is gone we might as well get the results, and as honestly as possible. This ought to be done. When there is even a start of doing it, fertilizer and national defense will drop out of the picture.

There are words with which to conjure up bursars and put the citizenship to sleep while the goods are being toted off.

HUSTLE UP WITH THE
I. C. ORDINANCE.

We hope that the Illinois Central's improvement of its Roosevelt road and Randolph street terminals is not going to be held up in the city council as was the Santa Fe ordinance.

The I. C. has asked the city council for an ordinance permitting it to construct certain improvements not contemplated when the original ordinance was passed in 1919. Several aldermen already voice objections to the new improvements. The stage is set for a repetition of the Santa Fe farce. It must not be repeated.

Back in 1917, the Santa Fe railroad applied for an ordinance which would enable it to occupy and improve certain streets and alleys. It stood ready to pay for the privilege. The ordinance was passed; Mayor Thompson vetoed it. It was passed over his veto; the railroad tendered the required sum of money. The city refused to take the money. From then on the Santa Fe ordinance was kicked around the committee rooms of the city council. It was not until last July, almost eight years, that it finally was passed.

As for the Illinois Central case, we are not sure but what the aldermen are right. The railroad wants to build a 64 foot viaduct from Randolph street east over the tracks. Aid Anderson points out the fact that Randolph street is 30 feet wide, and the drive with which the viaduct will connect, 100 feet wide. The alderman is right when he says 64 feet is too narrow. It is about half what it should be. Chicago already has enough bottle necks.

Nor do we like the proposal of the Illinois Central to send the Roosevelt road street cars east to the Field museum on top of the viaduct which will be built, instead of under it in a subway. Street cars are the ruin of the property lining their route. If the Roosevelt road terminal area is to be an important area—and we should think the Illinois Central would want it to be for its own sake—then keep the street cars underneath. We want the city protected, but we voice this one word of caution. Let surveys and recommendations be speedily completed. Chicago will not thank the aldermen, even for looking after the city's interests, if the Illinois Central permit is to suffer the fate of the Santa Fe ordinance.

FINANCING THE TALL CORN.

Two corporations with a combined capital of $500,000 and a lending power of $5,000,000 are to be organized for the assistance of Iowa farmers in the marketing of their corn crop. The decision to form the credit companies was reached at a conference in Chicago on Tuesday, at which Secretary of Agriculture Jardine presided. Mr. Jardine said Iowa farmers had produced 47,000,000 bushels of corn this year and were receiving 55 cents a bushel for it. The price is too low, he maintained, and it will be higher before the corn reaches its final purchasers. He wants the farmers to get the benefit of any future increase in the price.

Secretary Jardine wants the farmers' borrowing power increased so that they can either hold their corn for the rise or buy live stock to which the corn can be fed.

The evidence is conflicting regarding the amount of credit available for lending in Iowa. We have heard on the one hand that there is a financial stringency in the corn belt and on the other that the bankers in the state have plenty of funds. Secretary Jardine's proposal is aimed to remedy the situation if the first of these conditions exists. We do not doubt that Chicago bankers will provide capital for the new credit corporations. Chicago is the financial capital of the corn belt. The property of the city's industries depends upon the prosperity of the farmers. If the farmers need credit our banks are in a position to extend it to them and it is their duty to do so.

PERSHING IN TACNA-ARICA.

It was announced Tuesday from Geneva that Chile had submitted a memorandum of its complaint against Gen. Pershing's conduct of the Tacna-Arica referendum to the league of nations. The probability of this had been forecast by the TRIBUNE correspondent in Arica several days before. He said that Chile was preparing to carry the question over to Europe and into the league of nations. His information is proved accurate by the news from the capital of the league.

The plebiscite was ordered by President Coolidge, after he had been chosen as an arbitrator, to determine the future nationality of the two provinces of Tacna and Arica, whether they should be returned to Peru or remain under Chile. That was an American way of deciding American affairs, within the American family of nations. Chile, dissatisfied with what Gen. Pershing is doing in the interest, we are certain, of fair dealing in the election, has made a start or a gesture for European interference, and that, we are also certain, will appear to all thoughtful opinion in the American republics as unfortunate. It is not yet a request for European determination, but it might come to that and then be worse.

Chile wants the voting to proceed at once. Gen. Pershing is delaying to establish better conditions for the vote so that after there has been a decision even the loser will feel that it was a fair decision. That is a hard thing to do. The Peruvians complain of repression and coercion. They say they are not permitted to register all their people in the provinces who are entitled to vote and that they are not allowed to conduct a free campaign.

An election involving territory, nationality and national expansion or contraction undoubtedly involves all the prejudices and fears which can attend decision by the ballot. The contestants are not prepared to lose and that feeling prepares the way for any measures which will see that they do not. The stake of the United States in this is large. Gen. Pershing is there to see that fairness is given each side, but we presume that the winner will be content with success without fairness and the loser will not think much of a loss with it. It may be unfortunate for the United States that it is in this controversy, and decision at all, but neither it nor it was in the line of good policy for the United States to offer its good offices. That is one way of keeping American affairs at home.

Both Chile and Peru entered the league of nations. If they predicated their affairs into such a condition as involved Greece and Bulgaria there might be leagues who would think the league should give such orders as were given in the European case and assume jurisdiction for a settlement. There is the possibility, but we are confident that so long as the United States is out of the league it will not be done. Such an illustration of European intervention in the disposal of American territory would jar a good many illustrators and for that reason the illustration will be avoided, we think. With the United States in the league there would be no reason for not giving South America a touch of government from Geneva. It would be the government to which we had subscribed.

SCIENCE FOR THE SOUTH.

[New York World.]
It is heartening news that there is a movement on foot for free science in the south; and that this movement has its beginning in the state of Tennessee itself. Vanderbilt university, which is located at Nashville, and which is not dependent on public funds for support, has announced that it will attempt to raise $4,000,000 for the advancement of arts and sciences, and as a means of combating "a narrow sectarianism and a bigoted fundamentalism." It will be interesting to see how much support this campaign will receive. Unless the cause fails, it will receive a great deal. The bigoted fundamentalists who have received so much newspaper space are by no means representative of the entire south; there is a civilized minority down there which is much humiliated at the ridiculous which fundamentalism has brought with it. Here will be a chance for the enlightened people of the south to express their convictions, and it is to be hoped they will not let the chance slip by.

DYED FURS.

IF ANY ONE wants to read a fair statement of the present status of fur dyeing, and incidentally, get some information about hair dyeing, let him go to some library and call for the November number of the New York Industrial Hygiene Bulletin. In this bulletin Dr. Sells says that the trouble is due to paraphenylenediamine, which is sold in America under the name "universal black."

Different varieties are specified by different capital letters. The total production of this dye in the United States per year for all purposes is 250,000 pounds. One firm sells 50,000 packages of it per month, to be used as hair dye. Dr. Sells strongly advises against using the hair with these paraphenylenediamine or universal dye. They are poisonous if the dye is rubbed on the skin, and there are satisfactory substitutes.

But these dyes are also used to dye feathers, hosiery, leather goods, and furs. Wherever they are used they are dangerous. Wearing garments dyed with them has been known to cause death. The more frequent ill effects due to them are eczema, dermatitis, and asthma.

In spite of the danger of wearing dyed furs, Dr. Sells does not think the use of this dye on furs should be prohibited. In the first place, the dye can be used in a way that greatly decreases the danger. This consists in (1) using weak solutions to dye with; (2) mordanizing the skin before using the dye; (3) washing the dyed skins for several hours. If the dye is used according to this method it will be harmless to all persons except those who are very susceptible to such poisons.

Dr. C. Mills is quoted as saying that most of the trouble comes from insufficient washing and drumming. Dr. Sells suggests that the fur association have the fur dyed tested chemically and that they capact and manufacturers caught putting dangerous furs. If they would cooperate with the labor and health inspectors the people would be made safe and the trade would be protected. As matters now are the people are demanding more fur.

PAVING IS THE REMEDY.
Chicago, Nov. 29.—[Friend of the People.]—The alley running from 73d to 74th street, between Madison and Lawrence avenues, is in a muddy condition from building going on out there lately. Any car or wagon going through the mud is a nuisance to the public. Could we have it paved?
The alley referred to is unpaved. However, a sewer has recently been installed and the alley is to be paved in the near future. The board of public works is responsible for the condition complained of.

MUST FULFILL CONTRACT.
Chicago, Nov. 29.—[The Legal Friend of the People.]—One day last week I paid $10 as a deposit on some furniture and in less than 24 hours I called up and told the salesman to cancel the order as I found on thinking things over that I could not take the furniture. I went down later to try to get my deposit or something for my money, but MUST PAY THE RENT.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—[The Legal Friend of the People.]—The lease on my flat has several months to run, yet I am forced, for business reasons, to leave the flat. The furniture is owned by my wife.

2. Can he attach the furniture or cause further trouble?

1. Yes, as it comes due.
2. Not until the rent is in default.

RECLAIMED.

If Sam had come marching home again
God only knows what his life'd been!
He didn't amount to much before
He marched away to a well known war.
He loathed when he could—if he had to work
He figured out some way he could shirk.
His ways were crude, and his manners rough.
And he was commonly known as tough.
But he joined up when the war began,
And he grumbled and grumbled as a soldier man.
But at least he was cocky, and not afraid,
And somehow or other, he made the grade.
"Killed in action" the message read.
(And worth ten thousand dollars dead!)
And they gave him a couple of medals, too.
His folks kept 'em polished, and out on view
In the brand new house his insurance bought.
And, in honor of one who bravely fought,
They planted a tree on Pershing Drive
To keep his memory alive!
But if Sam had come marching home again
God only knows what his life'd been!

MARJORIE F. W.

CHARLEY DAWES left for the east yesterday to see the new and old Grange started southward on the trail for gold. We are proud to tell the pop-eyed world that these two famous fighting Chicagoans do not use sawed-off shotguns. We will admit, however, that they are sterling exceptions to a large part of our citizenry.

He Does Dialects These Things.

Hey, hey, stop—I have it! The reason Durkin didn't hide in the church steeple was because he was afraid of the rope.

The Hand Patted Bologna is Practically Yours.
Oh, R. H. L., I just know what's going to be on the cover and I bet I can name it in three guesses. My first one is that it will be an alibi editorial by Art Brisbane, and if it isn't that I would guess that it will be a lovely picture of Hank, and if it is neither of those it simply must be Jawns' "Injun Summer." Don't I win something?

And the Bootleggers Are After the Middle Aged.
Smoke laden, crowded, dimly lighted, the rattle of china and silverware, the tinkling of glasses, bur-buys and waiters rushing to and fro. Fashionably gowned dames with mature husbands struggling and debutantes and escorts swaying to popular airs rendered by an almost concealed orchestra. The murmur of voices rising and falling, as they are about to start, then having spent its strength falling back to the level of the sea. Faint smoke curling daintily inhaling delicately perfumed cigarettes. A tired business man becoming exhausted. Coffee growing cold—the clank and crash of carefully placed bottle of synthetic gin, people of every walk, perhaps a stumble would be more appropriate (having a "wild time"). Et Cetera.

Well, We Know What Kipperd Herring Wrote.
R. H. L.: Oh, dear! Oh, dear! Here again is the queer old fellow. He didn't KICK here—he slapped her blooming face and slapped her blooming face is quite all right, don't you know. Kicking is a bit ungentlemanly, I should say.

Not Knocking That City.
R. H. L.: Bill Martin says the guys down in Macomb have been boasting of their ability to tune out any station on their radios. That's nothing to brag about! Ask him if they've ever been able to tune in anything on their radios down in Macomb.

"NONE MORE THAN I HAS A RIGHT TO THE TITLE."
declared Prince George Wlasensky in London yesterday. The prince married Rosalie Selbridge, which made us in Chicago puff with honest pride. But that isn't the point, is it, "none more than I has a right to the title." Read it, you non-havers; read it and weep.

It's Already Fog Horned In.
Dick: Won't you please have "The Fog Horn" in the new Line Book? My thewettee Gas Thally says that isn't a point, is it, "none more than I has a right to the title." Read it, you non-havers; read it and weep.

We Could Call You Something—But You Know.
R. H. L.: Honest, Dick, the elevator starter in our building failed to chirp this morning "Good Morning Glory." I faintly dead away.

Hank Says Hain't No Room for That Mash.
R. H. L.: What to have in the Line Book? Your "George De Wack" spread almost all over everywhere, with a darling little space reserved for Lun Dee's "Sell Me a Dream."

How Can You Have Six in a Trio?
R. H. L.: The state that made you glad at the opera was pious. This is the Italian name for "little," therefore you were admiring your name-sake without knowing it. Sousa uses six of these in the trio of Stars and Stripes and Doc Moore in his review of Paul Whiteman's orchestra suggested the use of one to balance his combination.

THE THIRD SAXOPHONE.
Ha! A Lineogram!
Durkin, darling, dangerous devil, daily dodges Dever's doughy dicks.

TWO OF OURS, Madelon and Lun Dee, are going to appear in person at the Marines' own special performance of "What Price Glory" next Monday night. The gyras have bought out the house (and selling it again and have only a few seats left), and they have asked Madelon to recite her "Road to Vaux" and Lun Dee her "Sell Me a Dream" after the last curtain. Which, when all is said and done, is much better even than hearing them read over the radio. And that is impossible, as Howard wrote yesterday that he hadn't found his crystal yet. And we have to wait for Howard.

Winter Butterflies.
Often I have seen them through half closed eyes
Seen them slugged and drowsy, and steam heat wise,
Beating like dried symbols, velvet wings,

Singing in your honey bright hair, their sun,
Their amber, their topaz, their pot of gold,
Winter butterflies!

FRENCH CABINET ASKS INFLATION OF $300,000,000

Loucheur Plans Heavy Tax Increases.

BULLETIN.
PARIS, Dec. 2.—Aristide Briand, the new French premier, who appeared before parliament for the first time yesterday, early in the morning received a vote of confidence from the chamber on his motion to proceed to discussion of the financial bill. The vote was 333 against 111.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PARIS, Dec. 2.—Something wobbly in the legs after the rough crossing between Dover and Boulogne, but roused over the great reception given him here by representatives of many nations, Loucheur, the German minister, who was first to shake his hand when he left the train. Premier Briand returned from London this afternoon. A short time later he read his ministerial declaration, outlining the policy of the new French cabinet to the chamber of deputies.

Wanted the necessary sacrifice to save the financial situation, he demanded the support of all parties to vote the necessary measures to restore the credit and treasury and to ensure the nation's credit.

Make War Debt Pledge.
Loucheur said the French government would not be moved without foreign aid. He said that a loyal attitude with the great nations which the war made our creditors. We shall continue the negotiations on the debt, assured the speaker, who will take into account our situation and the necessity that they recognize in adding our support of the loan in order to make it possible for us to execute whatever agreements we reach.

The premier said the military operations in Syria and Morocco would not be suspended until the hand of peace is extended. He declared the League of Nations would seriously consider the military expenditures and the length of army service for the benefit of the country.

Adopt Inflation Necessary.
The left and center applauded M. Briand, with the right and extreme left maintained an ominous silence as Loucheur, France's richest man and ex premier, declared the new financial project, representing the League of Nations, would seriously consider the military expenditures and the length of army service for the benefit of the country.

Will Make All Taxes.
An speaker asked the chamber when the League of Nations demands for inflation money, as the new limit of $3,500,000,000 represents nearly a 25 per cent increase over the $2,800,000,000 of 1922. ROAD SUIT COST TEXAS $1,800,000, FERGUSON SAYS

Claims State Got Hot End of Poker.

Austin, Tex., Dec. 2.—James E. Ferguson, husband and adviser of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, and Attorney General Moody renewed today their battle of statements centering around the contract let to the American Road company by the Texas highway commission.

Ferguson, former governor of Texas and veteran of a number of hard fought political campaigns, scoffed at the claim that Moody had served the state by forcing the American Road company to confess judgment in court of $600,000, alleged excess profits on the highway contract.

Paid Loss at $1,800,000.
He estimated Moody's prosecution of the road company in the end would cost the state at least $900,000, the profit made by the company, and that the cost likely would reach $1,800,000, the profit plus $900,000, which he declared the state probably will have to pay for a second course asphaltic treatment on 400 miles of state highways.

In reference to the probability the suit will cost the state $1,800,000, Ferguson spoke of "the great legal gymnastics of the youthful attorney general," and declared, "Let these enthusiasts of the youthful attorney general analyze these figures to their hearts' content and they cannot deny or escape the fact that the state got the best and of the poker as a result of Moody's big suit against the highway commission."

Moody Calls It "Juggling."
Moody replied by characterizing Ferguson's statement as a "labored attempt to juggle the figures and mislead the public mind." He emphasized his answer "was not made in justification of any one, but in order that the people of Texas may have the truth and not be deceived and deceived by the attempt to juggle figures and misstate facts."

Shortly after his reply to Ferguson's charge the attorney general squelched the rumor that his formal answer was to be taken as an indication he will run for governor in 1925. "My answer carries no such significance," he said.

Chaufeur, Invited to Rob, Tells Cops; Two Arrested

Two armed men were captured yesterday by the police with the aid of a chauffeur driver who trapped them after he had been invited to share in a series of holdups they had planned. Max Vander Mark, the chauffeur, told the police that the men accosted him Monday while at work. His story caused the arrest of Gus Johnson and Joseph Collins of the Western hotel. Victims of recent holdups will be asked to look at them.

BOGUS PRINCE SAYS MRS. RIGGS GAVE HIM GEMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
BRUSSELS, Dec. 2.—Dmitri Majidze, alias Prince Treves, and a captain in the Roumanian army, when interviewed in prison today, indignantly denied charges of Mrs. Hilda Riggs of Chicago that he with two accomplices had robbed the American woman of jewels.

"We went to Mrs. Riggs' apartment in Passy, where we drank heavily," Majidze said. "I gave her a pearl scarf pin as a souvenir of our acquaintance and she gave me two rings. In the morning I returned the rings, but she insisted on my keeping the watch and another ring. With rum and revelry one finds difficulty in remembering what happened the next day."

The trio are ready to waive extradition formalities and return to Paris to face their charges without delay, not believing that the American woman will prosecute them.

FASCIST SOLONS RIOT AS PRELUDE TO LAST FADEOUT

BY LARRY RUE.

(Copyright 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.)

ROME, Dec. 2.—While government leaders are hastening the passage of laws underlining the parliamentary form of government and Premier Mussolini is speaking on the "decadence of parliament," the body itself is not doing anything to uphold the dignity of the institution.

At the beginning of the session today, at which were adopted fifty-four laws legalizing the various royal decrees which the government proclaimed in force pending legislation covering the subjects involved, a communist deputy interrupted a statement by a fascist deputy that he would read Mussolini's speech regarding the government's favoring of foreign exploration for oil in Italy.

Threats to slap fascists.

"You have not read it, you cannot read," Sir Rocco, the communist, charged.

"Shut up," the fascist yelled.

"You are an idiot," the communist howled.

The fascist deputy then said that he was going to slap the communist's face, but he was stopped by other fascists whose attention was diverted by a cry from the entrance: "There is one deputy belonging to the opposition in the chamber."

The chamber was soon in an uproar and there were cries of "Throw him out! Criminal! You have culminated us for a year!" A number of deputies rushed over and grabbed Sir Rocco.

a member of the Unionist party, and carried him out, shouting: "Out of here, hippopotamus!"

Slaps Communist in Face.

In the corridors Sir Rocco's face was slapped by Rocco Passavanti, a gold medal war hero.

Premier Mussolini today ordered all Italian embassies, legations, consulates, and immigration officials abroad to create in their districts "institutions where laborers may congregate after work" for Italians abroad. The object is to improve the culture, health, and morals of Italian emigrants by "education, sports, and general professional instruction against alcohol and against disease and also to furnish economic and moral assistance, as well as to conduct propaganda for the promotion of Italian sentiment and culture." Sir Mussolini urged caution against allowing the institutions to serve purposes of intrigue.

1924 ESTATE TAX ONCE REPEALED; REMAINS IN BILL

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—(Special.)—As a means of avoiding unnecessary controversy, the house and senate committee today rescinded its action repealing retroactively to June, 1924, the estate tax increases of the 1924 revenue act.

The committee also voted to defer the effective date of the decrease from five to three per cent in the tax on automobiles until 30 days after the enactment of the law and to provide for a rebate on cars in the hands of dealers on which the full tax has been paid.

Another action was taken to repeal entirely the stamp taxes on deeds and conveyances and on proxies and powers of attorneys. The committee had reduced the stamp tax on bonds and conveyances from 50 to 25 cents. As the bill now stands it was estimated that the total revenue loss will be a little less than $300,000,000, which is understood to be the surplus in prospect for the fiscal year 1927.

Representative Green (Rep., Iowa), chairman of the committee, in announcing the rescinding of the retroactive repeal of estate tax increases of the 1924 act, said that it had been found that it would mean a greater loss in revenue than first supposed. Mr. Green had opposed the retroactive repeal.

You Boys Be the Judge!

Lionel Standard vs. "Toy Railroads"

THE lucky boys who get Lionel Model Railroads for Christmas know just how it feels to run a real railroad.

For Lionel Trains are real—the only difference between Lionel and real trains is the size.

Compare Lionel with any ordinary "toy" trains and you'll see why Lionel locomotives, cars and equipment are better—you'll understand why more Lionel Trains are sold than any other make.

The new Lionel Standard Locomotives have the wonderful "Three-point armature shaft bearing Super-Motor" and new reduction gearing that greatly increases hauling power and reduces current consumption. The new big pullman and observation cars have 12 wheels—just like real ones.

For 25 years Lionel has specialized exclusively in the manufacture of model electric railroads—not mere "toys." Since 1900 Lionel products have been the world's standard of comparison. Lionel has always pioneered in originating new mechanical and electrical refinements and improvements.

The maker of a "toy" expects you to play with it for a while and then break it or lose it or forget all about it. But Lionel wants you to enjoy operating your Lionel Model Railroad for years and then be able to pass it along to your younger brother or even your own son—as good, as strong and as beautiful as when you got it on Christmas morning.

You can't begin to appreciate how fine electric trains can be until you see these Lionel Model Railroads. So go to the nearest Lionel dealer (see list below) and look over his display.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Horse breeders of Canada and the United States shared prize honors in the draft horse judging arena at the International Live Stock show in the Union stockyards yesterday.

Greenmeadow Footstep, University of Saskatchewan stallion, was pronounced grand champion Clydesdale for 1925. The reserve senior and grand championship awards went to Green Meadow Reliance, owned and exhibited by A. G. Soderberg of Oaco, Ill.

American farmers came in for their share of the honors in the Belgian class, taking the grand championship award in the stallion class with Supreme Parcourt, owned by C. G. & Son of Ogdon, Ia. This entry also won the senior championship, Louie de Maete, entered by Bell Bros., Wooster, O., was the reserve senior and grand champion. The Bell brothers also won the junior Belgian stallion championship with John Henry.

Mah-jong, grand champion beef animal of the show, and King of the Fairies, the Prince of Wales, grand champion Shorthorn bull, will travel different routes after they leave the auctioneer's block today. Mah-jong will go over the bridge of sighs and will be made into holiday beef, while King of the Fairies will likely be a true king over some red, white and roan herd, either in this country or Canada.

Early Dawn, of Henry W. Marshall's herd at Lafayette, Ind., won the grand championship and the senior championship award in the Hereford bull class, the junior championship going to the Van Natta Murdock company's Prime Blanchard. Mischief Mixer, also of the Marshall herd, was awarded the reserve championship.

Above, the Wilson-Broadway section, a city in itself—the inevitable result of the establishing of the "L" Terminal at Wilson and Broadway in 1907. Below, Devonshire Manor, located in the same relation to the new "L" Terminal at Dempster Street, its destiny as certain as was that of the section above—a Wilson-Broadway Section of Tomorrow.

MONTHS ago, experts pointed out that Devonshire Manor would be Greater Chicago's richest development since the Wilson-Broadway district made fabulous fortunes for property owners. And already, while development is just beginning, profits are being realized here in handsome proportions. And you can share them if you act promptly. There is little chance that you will have such an opportunity again!

Devonshire Manor is only one and one-half blocks from the Dempster

Street "L" Terminal—just 39 minutes from the loop. It is in the heart of Niles Center at the junction of 2 full section line streets—occupies the same relative position to its "L" terminal and arteries of travel as the Wilson-Broadway section.

Only prompt action will secure you one or more of the choice lots in this fast-selling section. For keen buyers are eager to share the fortunes that will be made here. If you want to participate in the profits, get full particulars now.

FLORIDA FEVER

By Kenneth L. Roberts

In 1925, two-and-a-half million seekers after sunshine, and color, and warmth—and wealth—poured into a state whose normal population has been only about a million.

So tremendous an influx of settlers and tourists has created such vast demands for everything—from real estate to sandwiches, from a night's lodging to a palace—that our old standards of business judgment totter.

But the man who buys real estate blindly will be burned just as surely in Florida as elsewhere. Read Mr. Roberts' articles beginning in the Christmas Post, Now On Sale, five cents!

WITH OR WITHOUT

By Fanny Heaslip Lea

For seven years the Devlins had lived, and loved, and squabbled, about like other married couples—and then, just at the top of a bouncing fine row, they found that they never had been legally married!

What did they do . . . well, what would you do yourself under equally devastating circumstances?

25 SPLENDID STORIES & ARTICLES MAKE THIS THE BEST CHRISTMAS POST EVER PUBLISHED

Here are just a few of them. The Last of the Hoopwells, by John P. Marquand; the first of a new Plucky Shute series, by Henry A. Shute; a most timely and authoritative article by Captain Conrad Westervelt, on Flyers and Storms.

DeWolf Hopper writes on How Not to Act; and Sousa's Keeping Time has all the dash and spirit of one of his own marches.

And then you'll enjoy Endurance Vile, by Octavus Roy Cohen; The Moto Car, by Stewart Edward White; Good Old Grandpa, by William Hazlett Upson; Bohemians De Luxe, by Maude Parker Child; and sixteen other stories and articles—twenty-five in all, in the best of Christmas Posts. Now on sale—all for five cents!

BIG 10 ATHLETIC CHIEFS STAR
SESSIONS TODAY

They'll Plan Year Schedules.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL
Athletic directors of the Big Ten conference will hold their annual meeting today at the Auditorium, starting at 2 o'clock and will continue tomorrow and Saturday. The directors' meeting is only one of the many to be held today, tomorrow, and Saturday. The faculty committee will convene sometime tomorrow, and its session may last well into Saturday. There are so many of vital interest to the association's directors and faculty meetings command a lot of attention. Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock wrestling coaches of the Big Ten will meet to arrange their schedules for the season. At the same time the athletic directors will hold a joint meeting with representatives of more than 100 schools of the middle west. Athletic directors of the Missouri Valley conference have been invited to this session, but owing to the gathering of this association at St. Louis it is improbable all will attend.

Football Session Saturday.
On Saturday morning at 9 o'clock winning coaches will arrange their charts. Half an hour later track field coaches and those in charge of the gymnastic and fencing teams will convene to arrange dates. At 1 o'clock the athletic directors will meet again, as will the faculty committee. At 11 o'clock the basketball coaches will make out their schedules starting at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, the football coaches gather to make out the 1926 Big Ten schedule. This session will be the most interesting of the meeting, as it will determine the schedule for the season. It is understood that teams from Illinois, Chicago and State, which have games scheduled with eastern teams, other members of the Big Ten will announce their 1926 intercollegiate opponents. The basketball coaches will convene at the same hour to discuss rules and rotating cage schedule has been announced.

Other Colleges Seek Games.
The professional football question is to come up for a deal of discussion at the sessions of the directors and faculty members. Just what will be done, if anything, is not known. It will be difficult to lay down a fast rule to prevent a football team from quitting college to embark on a professional gridiron career. Some recommendation will be made by the coaches of the Big Ten conference teams, athletic directors of many colleges and universities of the middle west and some will be to arrange contests of the kind which have been popular with members of the Big Ten. This will be especially true of football, while some of the cage may have a few open dates. The dates for the indoor track field championships and the swimming meet will be announced by a committee which will also decide the date and place of the meet. In all probability the meet will be held at Northwestern in March and the outdoor meet in May. The annual Illinois indoor relay will be held on Feb. 26 in the armory at Champaign. Drake officials will be announced the date of the annual relay, which generally opens the season in April.

COACHES DINE TONIGHT

The Chicago Commonwealth, which Ernest S. Ballard is preparing to host to the country's football coaches and athletic authorities at a banquet at the Hotel tonight. Vital subjects discussed, the professional situation, particularly ways of increasing and encouraging intercollegiate competition also will be discussed. Among the coaches who will be present are Jesse Hawley of Dartmouth, Stanford; Glenner, Stanford; Lou Young, Tufts; Clark Shaughnessy, Tufts; Stagg, Chicago; Knute Rockne, Notre Dame; and twenty other college and university football coaches from the Atlantic to the Pacific seaboard.

A. A. MAGNATES TO APPROVE 1926 SCHEDULE TODAY

Raise Player Limit from Eighteen to Twenty.

TOM HICKEY
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

A schedule for the 1926 baseball season is to be adopted by club owners of the American Association when they meet today. Hickey, president, has prepared two tentative playing charts which he will submit for consideration.

The customary 18 games will be played in the association next year, it was decided yesterday, and the season will open about the middle of April, probably on the same day the major leagues start play.

Reduce Squads After June 1.

After considerable argument, the magnates agreed to increasing the player limit from eighteen to twenty. The clubs will be allowed twenty-five players until June 1, when the squads are to be pared to twenty. From Sept. 1 to the end of the season they will be permitted to carry twenty-five players to give them an opportunity of developing talent for the following season.

Some of the clubs favored a twenty player limit without restrictions on the number of rookies a club can carry. William Neale, business manager of the championship Louisville Colonels, was opposed to the clubs carrying rookies. Mike Kelly, president of the Minneapolis club, who advocated increasing the player limit, was also opposed to carrying rookies.

"None of the clubs should carry rookies," he said. "We need skilled players, and then the name rookie sounds like a bug. Baseball, and that is what we want to get away from."

Provide for Sunday Laws.

The club owners adopted a rule to provide for conditions caused by the Sunday baseball laws in Minnesota and Indiana. They agreed that if games in St. Paul and Indianapolis could not be finished before 5:30 p. m., the umpires would have authority to end the contests within 15 minutes, even if only seven innings had been played.

Mr. Coot Packs Up and Fools Hunters by Trip to Hawaii

BY BOB BECKER.

Duck hunters may speak disparagingly of the coot or mudhen and look upon this slate colored aquatic bird as something less than a game bird, but you have to hand it to Mr. Coot. He has good taste when it comes to traveling. Whereas many of our ducks are content to hang around and fight winter with its low temperatures, snows, and ice, the smart coot says, "Me for Hawaii," and away he goes for an occasional trip to the beautiful Pacific islands, where sun shines and warm weather make life worth living.

The mudhen, pebbles in looks, is a sort of a combination of duck, gallinule, and rail, and one of the few American birds that occasionally visits the far away Hawaiian islands in fall and winter. In fact, this widely known migrant has liked Hawaii so well that many of the immigrants have settled there to found a new colony.

You will look over some of the fresh water ponds of the island archipelago, you'll find the lovely cool very much on the job and doing very well, too.

Although the coot may have the correct idea on where to spend the winter, the guides downstate don't think much of his manner when he's on a duck pond. The mudhen crowd is the table spread for the ducks and quickly clean up on all the extra, a performance that doesn't endear them to the guides along the Illinois.

In the Wake of the News

FORWARD PASSING

IT SEEMS reasonably certain there will be no drastic changes in the football code for 1926. Numerous suggestions, mainly of minor importance, will be submitted by Big Ten coaches and athletic directors at their sessions here this week for consideration by the rules committee.

In the east there is considerable discussion of restrictions on the forward pass. It is unlikely, however, that this will come to a head this year. The argument is that the pass, if successful, carries a value out of proportion to every other means of ground gaining. Some go so far as to say it is not team play, because passers and receivers are "born and not made."

Originally the forward pass was instituted to open up play, to give variation to attack. It was not intended to be the principal ground gainer. As practiced by Dartmouth, it was more effective than any other effort to score. That does not mean Dartmouth could not have perfected end runs or line smashing. The Green has exceptional talent in passing and receiving. It utilized that talent. Part of its success was deception, valuable in any attack. Furthermore, Dartmouth proved that team play was employed in passing.

Proponents of the passing attack maintain that such a system can be in part nullified by a man-to-man defense, which, of course, weakens the line and makes it more susceptible to line plunges or off-tackle drives.

Under the present rules, the Wake believes, passing will become even more essential in every successful offense and end of off-tackle drives.

Rookie Growers of Mums Face Fight with Bugs

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Chrysanthemum shows held at the Chicago park conservatories have stimulated great interest in the growing of this great American flower. Many beginners who are planning to start them in their own greenhouses are warned against the pests that often handicap their efforts.

The chrysanthemum pest situation can be simplified by starting early. C. C. Compton, entomologist of the natural history survey, says that a continual fight must be waged against chrysanthemum pests for seven or eight months or the blossoms will be inferior.

He finds that nematodes, or eel worms, slugs, saw bugs, millipedes, and wire attack the root system of chrysanthemums and, if unchecked, will destroy the plant. Thrips, or white ants, and mealy bugs, scale insects devour the foliage and bloom. Some species of cutworms also feed on this flower.

At a control measure Compton says to sterilize the soil with steam before starting the plants. Poison baits kill cutworms, slugs, saw bugs, and millipedes. Nightly fumigation or spraying is the only thing that gets the mites. Nicotine sprays or fumigation with hydrocyanic acid gas will check thrips, plant lice, mealy bugs, flea hoppers, and white ants. Spraying or dusting with arsenicals will eat leaf rollers, leaf tyers and other leaf eaters. Stripping with clear water checks red spiders.

Double Decking of Streets—Wacker

BY J. L. JENKINS.

Charles H. Wacker, chairman of the Chicago plan commission and one of Chicago's leaders in the development of transportation safety, is another authority who believes the actual building in of traffic safety will stop the mounting automobile death toll.

The commission itself has no fixed plan for the immediate reduction of automobile deaths.

"But in my opinion, the separating of heavy and fast traffic by double decked streets and boulevards and the constant and rigid enforcement of vehicle laws are direct remedies."

"Experience has taught Chicago that fewer fatal accidents occur on our largely protected boulevards and through streets and in the city. By pushing through the main Chicago plan which calls for systematic traffic control and through routing and by adding more automatic stoplights at all danger points we can materially reduce traffic deaths and accidents. Our double decked streets, such as Michigan avenue and South Water street have traffic safety actually built into them. Automatic stoplights on the boulevards give protection to both pedestrians and motorists."

"More rigid law enforcement will stop much of the careless driving which causes deaths and, eventually, the examining and licensing of all automobile drivers should be employed to cut out a class of people who are unfit to operate an automobile and who form a real menace to the community."

Park Board Moves to Dry Soldiers' Field

Miniature lakes, bogs, and other varieties of gridiron water hazards that have turned the last two or three football games at Soldiers' field into mud batters are soon to become evils of the past.

Preliminary steps in preventing a recurrence next year of scenes like those of the Northwestern Michigan affray were taken yesterday by commissioners of the south park board. Two expert engineers were appointed with orders to start work on a drainage system to keep the field dry.

One of the chief reasons for hurrying the work is to promote the prospects of bringing the Army-Navy game to Chicago next fall. It is believed certain the teams would not travel so far with even a remote chance of being compelled to battle in the mud.

"The board learned its lesson from the football game this season," declared Edward J. Kelly, president of the park commission. "Soldiers' field must be kept in shape in all kinds of weather, regardless of the expense."

"It must be remembered, however, that the field is used for many other events besides football. Gridirons in the better stadiums, like Yale bowl or Stagg field, on the other hand, are carefully protected against trespass for any other purpose. The task of keeping Soldiers' field in condition for football after the rodeo, police field day, and so forth, is therefore doubly hard."

May Buy Huge Cover.

In addition to the drainage plans the board is also considering the purchase of a huge tarpaulin to protect the field from rains. Such a cover has been successfully used at both Cubs and White Sox parks. Although the cost of a canvas big enough for the field would be great, the engineers believe it to be practical economy.

Kelly said he intended to consult with coaches and managers of the Big Ten conference when they meet here in an effort to get other ideas.

TILDEN WINS TWO.

Tilden took a pair of basketball titles from Schurz on Tilden's floor yesterday. The scores of the light and heavyweight games were identical, 22 to 12.

SIX DAYS OF BIKE RACING MAKE ONE WEAK IN GOTHAM

Addicts and Riders Jam with Usual Thrills.

tions of customers, the six day race would lose its thrill.

But, although the most prominent smell in the new garden is a smell of new plaster and paint, the addict is at his addiction again, and furthermore he is corrupting others who have shown no previous symptoms of the vice. There have been 16,000 present for an evening's sprints, and promoters say 25,000 came in, stayed a while or stayed all night, Tuesday night. The gravity of the situation may be judged from the fact the old garden could not hold more than about 10,000 for a bike race. That limited the spread of the thing.

New York and Chicago are the American victims of this strange weakness, but Chicago seems to be a town that can take a six day race or leave it. New York, though, can't stand off with the now bi-weekly six day race than Kansas City can resist the temptation of a fake wrestling bout.

Boston Had Race—Once.

Whether the six day race is on the level one is unable to say. The scoring system is again subtle, and the riders have private agreements with the promoters as to pay. But even if a six day race is honest, it still is a six day race, and riders could be convicted of first degree bike racing before an impartial jury.

Boston used to have six day races, but Boston was cured by a providential accident. Early one morning some addicts dropped in to indulge their craving and the riders, who were supposed to be on the track day and night, forgot to wake up.

HOLZMAN, SHEA FINISH WORK FOR BOUT TOMORROW

At Holzman of Trenton, N. J., and Eddie Shea of the west side, who meet in the windup of the boxing show at East Chicago tomorrow night, completed training yesterday. They will do just enough work this afternoon at Mullen's to insure the making of 124 pounds at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

While this bout is attracting most attention, there is a lot of interest in the preliminaries. The six round match between Steve Adams and Eddie Raymer for the lightweight championship of South Chicago has its following, while Jack O'Keefe's heavy-weight, Jim Savage, is expected to meet a tartar in Bill Hart of St. Paul in the four round preliminary. Three other bouts complete the card.

Kelly said he intended to consult with coaches and managers of the Big Ten conference when they meet here in an effort to get other ideas.

GRANGE TRAILS EASTERN RIVER BY 98 POINTS

WHEAT ADVANCES TO NEW PEAK ON ALL DELIVERIES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A bullish demonstration in wheat at the opening lifted prices 1 1/4¢ over the finish of the previous day to a top of $1.15 on December, $1.09 on May and $1.05 on July, a new high on the crop on all deliveries. The sensational upturn in the last two days with values up 1 1/2¢ from the low on Monday brought in immense profit taking and May broke 3/4¢ from the top.

The market was decidedly unsettled throughout the day, with numerous bulges and breaks of 1¢ or more, with the finish 1/4¢ higher to 1¢ lower, with December showing the most strength. The latter went to around 6¢ over May and closed at 6¢ over at $1.15 1/4¢.

Heavy short covering appeared in corn and with closing of spreads with wheat, net gains were 3/4¢. December finished at 74 1/2¢ and May at $1.04 1/2¢. Oats gained 1/4¢ and rye 1/2¢.

Settlement Changes in Wheat.

Some of the local professionals and commission houses that have been bullish of late were aggressive on the rise side, taking profits, believing the technical position weakened by the upturn of 2 1/2¢ from the low on Nov. 9. Considerable buying was in evidence during the day which was regarded as for eleventh hour bulls. Buenos Aires failed to reflect the early strength in Chicago and was 1/4¢ higher to 1/2¢ lower at midday, and finished 1/4¢ lower. Liverpool after being 1/4¢ higher, higher after closed 3/4¢ higher.

Argentine news was somewhat more bullish, with private estimates on the exportable surplus of wheat ranging from 112,000,000 to 125,000,000 bu., or slightly less than the recent average. Weather reports from that country were mixed, with some cables reporting fair and cooler while others said it was hot and muggy. Rain is forecast for Dec. 4 and 7.

December wheat acted tight and the bulk of the trade was at about 6¢ over May. Some cash wheat was bought to come here from Minneapolis and Omaha, which dampened the ardor of the bulls toward the last, and there was closing of spreads between here and Minneapolis. Winnipeg was easy and 1 1/4¢ lower at the last, with July leading. Export sales in all positions for the day were 500 to 600,000 bu., including 100,000 bu. durum to England. Several of Manitoba were reported as doing a good business abroad.

Cash Spreads in Corn.

A great deal of the strength in corn with an advance of 3/4¢ over the finish of the previous day came from closing of spreads between corn and wheat, the latter being sold. Several local operators came in on big lines, while the pit element was disposed to go a little slow on the bear side, with December corn nearly 3¢ per bu. under wheat. Basis in the middle market showed little change, with receipts 355 cars, the movement being smaller than anticipated. The seaboard reported 300,000 bu. corn resold by the United Kingdom. Oats and rye were influenced largely by the action of other grains, the latter being a good class of commission house buying in rye.

December Lard Weakens.

Selling of December lard credited to cash interests carried all deliveries lower, with the finish at net losses of 2 1/2¢ to 3¢ lower, with the nearby four and 2 1/2¢ to 3¢ lower. Ribs were 1/4¢ lower and grain 1/2¢ to 3/4¢ lower. Weakness in hogs and a slow cash demand were the depressing influences. Packing of hogs in the west for the winter season to date, as compiled by the Price Current Grain Reporter, aggregated 2,473,000, against 2,523,000 last year. Prices follow:

DRY GOODS AND GARMENT NEWS

(Copyright, 1925, Fairchild News Service.)

NEW YORK.—The local market for gray goods showed a moderate amount of inquiry. Prices were unchanged.

NEW YORK.—No changes were noted in the knitwear market here. Calculated wire no changes there either.

BOSTON.—At the moment the wool market of the world seems to be more or less at a standstill. Several centers show a stronger tendency than others for wools of equal value. Offerings from the River Plate today show that the market is about at the level of yesterday's quotations, namely about 48¢ for 88-90s; 46¢ for 90s; 43¢ for 92s; and about 40¢ for 94s.

THE CHICAGO AND NORTHWESTERN has applied to the Federal Reserve Bank for a $2,375,000 general mortgage gold bonds of 1927 to be used to reimburse the treasury for funds expended.

THE GREAT WESTERN for the week ended Nov. 25 totaled 6,206 revenue cars, against 6,037 for the same week last year. The Santa Fe in November handled 168,083 revenue freight cars, compared with 167,393 in November last year. The St. Paul in November moved 178,000 revenue cars, against 190,010 last year. The Burlington handled 167,448 revenue freight cars, compared with 164,412 a year ago.

THE GREATEST in the history of shipping on the Great Lakes has just closed, with a total tonnage around 95,000,000, due largely to better conditions in the steel industry, which caused a record total of iron ore shipments. The year included a slight but notable expansion in deep sea shipping, although the Westland canal, entrance to the Great Lakes, west of Ontario, is limited to vessels drawing thirteen feet.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat traders are looking for a moderate setback in prices and eventually a higher level. The market has taken a heavy load of loss wheat and apparently absorbed it from efforts overnight, due to the rapid price changes in futures. There were reports of a large export business in corn earlier in the day, but after the close the United Kingdom was said to have resold 200,000 bu.

Chicago handlers sold 30,000 bu. wheat, 76,000 bu. corn, 51,000 bu. oats, and 9,000 bu. barley to the exporters, with 100,000 bu. corn to go to stock. There were 15,000 bu. of corn sold to domestic, and 25,000 bu. of wheat to come here from Omaha, the latter at 1 1/2¢ over Chicago new December. Charter for winter steamer oats so far aggregate 1,500,000 bu.

Demand for cash wheat here was only fair, with the basis steady to 1¢ lower, with hard winter wheat, No. 2 hard sold at 2 1/2¢ over the December, No. 2 red was nominally 8 1/2¢ over. Premiums at Kansas City were easier. Minneapolis reported a fair demand, with the basis little changed.

Dry corn was in good demand, with the basis as much as 1¢ better as compared with December, while some of the best sold at 3 1/2¢. No. 4 grades brought 2 1/2¢ under, No. 5 grades, 2 1/4¢ under, and No. 6 grades, 2 1/2¢ under. December Outside Grades were unchanged to 1/2¢ higher.
